Meet the Scarlet Macaw!

These birds are famous for their brilliant plumage, which includes red feathers, a rainbow of red, yellow, and blue-tipped wings and red tails.

The Scarlet Macaw is a large, colorful parrot native to the humid evergreen forests of Central and South America.

Scarlet Macaws are highly intelligent and social, often seen in pairs or small groups. They can mimic human speech and learn basic tricks.

These parrots have powerful beaks that can easily crack nuts and seeds, and they also feed on fruits, insects, and flowers.

Scarlet Macaws can live up to 75 years in captivity!
